Real-life example

There is a violent event at a child's university. The parents immediately purchase round-trip airline tickets to get to the school. They incur lodging and meal expenses; purchase a one-way ticket home for the child and set up an appointment for professional counseling. In addition, arrangements were made for a security company to install an alarm system in the child's campus housing.

Household SafeGuard coverage is just one of many advantages available to our policyholders. Please ask your independent insurance advisor about protection for personal excess liability, autos, private collections, yachts and more.
